

Suzanna Rosenthal for Steam Industry Free Theatre presents

London's FREE open air theatre season

THE TROJAN HORSE AGAMEMNON ORESTES

5 July - 5 August

'Theatre you would happily pay to see'

Metro

morelondon

steam
INDUSTRY
free theatre

A new three-part Oresteia adapted from Aeschylus
by Steam Industry Free Theatre

Director Phil Willmott

Movement Direction conceived by Javier de Frutos

A rare staging of the magnificent Oresteia trilogy -
a three part epic
drama charting
Ancient Greece's
journey from
chaos and war
to peace, justice
and the harmony
that inspired
the Olympic ideal.

THE TROJAN HORSE 6.30pm

Packed with toe-tapping songs, ingenious puppets, comedy and adventure, this lively re-telling of how a bunch of plucky lads from Greece outsmart the might of the Trojan army with an unusual gift promises fun for all the family! But will the right boy will get the girl? Join for us for an early evening romp that's suitable for all ages!

AGAMEMNON 8.00pm

As twilight falls, the gruesome and dramatic story of a hero's homecoming steeped in murder and revenge gradually unfolds. A great king is reunited with his queen but bitter memories bubble to the surface and recriminations are bloody and unexpected.

ORESTES 9.30pm

Darkness sees a new generation of royal turmoil as terrifying forces seek to plunge the great house deeper into destruction; but help is at hand as a new spirit of hope and justice brings our epic story to a thundering and uplifting climax.

5 JULY - 5 AUGUST 2012

Thursday - Sunday

Each play is an hour long and can be enjoyed separately or over the course of an evening's spine-tingling theatre.

BSL interpreted performances on Saturday 21 July for The Trojan Horse and Thursday 26 July for Agamemnon and Orestes

Post show discussions after Orestes on Sundays 8, 15, 22, 29 July

'Grittier than the Globe, more atmospheric than the West End... spectacular, ambitious and accessible...
and it's free.'

Evening Standard

Directions

The Scoop at More London is on the South Bank of the Thames between Tower and London Bridges on the river path, The Queen's Walk. Nearest tube and overground: London Bridge

photography: Sheila Burnett

Access

The Scoop at More London is a fully accessible venue - with flat-level access and a gentle slope down into the theatre. Wheelchair spaces are available and an usher can assist in finding the best space; there is also an accessible toilet.

Hearing and Guide Dogs are very welcome. Please call 020 7403 4866 for further assistance.

In the event of rain, the performance may have to be cancelled. A decision will be made 15 minutes before the performance is due to start.

Seats are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis. No booking required - and yes, it is completely free!

Cushions are available for hire.

www.steamindustryfreetheatre.org.uk
www.morelondon.com/thescoop

morelondon ERNST & YOUNG

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

Southwark
WEEKENDER

step
southwark theatres
education partnership

TeamLondonBridge
improving our district

M&G
INVESTMENTS